End	$91.98	85.59	£79.18	$123.25

The week opened flat to the previous week on high wind generation limiting demand for gas in the prompt, high storage levels and limited need for gas injections. New outages at Norway's Asgard gas field resulting in reduced flows did little to pressure the market. Towards the end of the week prices rose following reports of Russian attacks on Ukrainian energy assets. Rising tensions between Israel and Iran also impacted prices, with traders left unsettled as Iran highlighted their ability to close the strait of Hormuz.

Start	$87.33	75.74	£69.11	$124.50
End	$91.20	75.57	£70.65	$117.50

The UK system remained long throughout the week, UK temperatures rose and peaked above seasonal norms with strong wind generation suppressing gas-fired power generation. Norwegian flows to the UK remained unchanged, as did LNG send out. Oil prices continued the upward trend hitting a new five month high, as geopolitical tensions remain and continued OPEC+ cuts drive bullishness. Prices remained stable across the week.

Week commencing 25th March 2024

The week began with an oversupplied system and strong flows from Norway. This trend continued throughout the week with the healthy levels of supply remaining and the latest forecasts suggesting temperatures are set to increase, further reducing demand. Wind generation is expected to outturn above average, further adding to the bearish sentiment. European storage levels continue to remain high with the winter season set to end.

Mid week saw prices drop slightly ending a five day rally after a 15% rise in that time, temperatures in the UK were forecast above seasonal norms with wind generation set to be above average also. European storage levels continued to be high.
